- I. In consideration for publication in the Journal named above, you (the Author(s)), grant to the Microbiology Society (the Publisher), the exclusive right and licence to produce, publish, sell, distribute and make available, and to further sub-licence your Article, including the abstract, prepared by you, for the full legal term of copyright and any renewals thereof throughout the world in all languages and in all formats, and through any medium of communication now known or later conceived or developed.
- II. You warrant that the Article is your original work, has not previously been published, and is not currently under consideration by another journal. If it contains material which is someone else's copyright, you warrant that you have obtained the unrestricted permission of the copyright owner (please attach evidence of this) and that the material is clearly identified and acknowledged within the Article. You also warrant that the Article does not contain anything which is defamatory, illegal, or infringes anyone's copyright or other rights. You agree to indemnify us against any claims in respect of the above warranties and this indemnity shall survive the termination of this Agreement.
- III. You assert your Moral Right to be identified as the Author(s). We will respect your rights as the Author(s). That is, we will make sure that your name(s) is/are always clearly associated with the Article, and we will not make any substantial change to your Article without consulting you. When the Article is accepted, we undertake to publish it as soon as we reasonably can. On publication, we will send you a free digital copy. We will take all reasonable steps to maximise the visibility of the Journal, and of your Article within it.
- IV. Copyright remains yours, and we will acknowledge this in the copyright line which appears on your Article. However, you authorise us to act on your behalf to defend your copyright if anyone should infringe it, and to retain half of any damages awarded, after deducting our costs.
- V. You retain the right to use your own Article, provided you give full acknowledgement of the published original, as follows, as long as this does not conflict with our business:
  - a. You may use or deposit a copy of the version of your article incorporating changes made during peer review (the "Accepted Manuscript") to a free public institutional or subject repository, immediately after first publication in the Journal and make this available under a CC-BY licence. Such copy must include the following notice: © [name of Author(s), year]. The definitive peer reviewed, edited version of this article is published in [name of Journal, volume, issue, year, DOI].
  - b. You may use a copy of the final published version of your article (the "Version of Record"), in whole or in part, for internal education or other purposes of your own institution or company.
  - c. You may use the Version of Record, in whole or in part, as the basis for your own further publications, including theses, or spoken presentations.
- VI. We will keep the information you have provided for record purposes; you permit your name and address to be reproduced in the Journal and on indexing and abstracting and bibliographic services. Your details will not be used for any other purpose.
- VII. This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement between the parties with respect to its subject matter. No amendment or modification of any provision of this Agreement shall be valid or binding unless made in writing and signed by all parties.
- VIII. This Agreement shall be deemed to be a contract made in England and shall be construed and applied in all respects in accordance with English law and the parties submit and agree to the jurisdiction of the English courts.
